MARIPOSA PALOOZA Artists' Butterfly Display closes November 16! Butterflies are for sale—new landscape color needing no water!

CORPUS CHRISTI—MARIPOSA PALOOZA Artists' Butterflies have brought many visitors to South Texas Botanical Gardens & Nature Center! Winners were announced May 30, with the exhibit being a popular piece of October fundraiser MOONLIGHT & Mariposas IN THE GARDENS.

The entire collection of artistically-designed 24 to 30-inch metal butterflies by local professional and amateur artists, continues on display in the Gardens, 8545 S. Staples St., 9 am-6 pm, through November 16, included in general admission. They are available for purchase by photographing the display card and taking it to the Gift Shop to reserve your choice. Excellent for yard art, or landscape color with no watering!

Funded in part by a $14,000 grant from City of Corpus Christi Arts & Cultural Commission, MARIPOSA PALOOZA offered artists a chance to express their talents on a non-traditional medium in a non-traditional "gallery," outdoors at a high-traffic public venue.

November 1 and 2, it joined our una Ofrenda representation, classes on pollinator plants and Monarch butterfly waystations, and waystation dedication helping connect the sacred spiritual Mexican cultural significance of Día de los Muertos to Monarch education.!
